DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This three story house with sloped roof and ell has been altered at least twice, first to add the ~~first~~ floor and later to insert the shopfront. Portions of the first floor and all of the second floor are of flemish bond, the third floor is in running bond. The side wall, which fronts on an alley, has been surfaced with concrete. Narrow sections of brick wall separate the 1st floor apertures. There are two identical doors, one to the left, the other just left of center.

The lower half of each door consists of 2 vertical panels under a horizontal panel; the upper half of 9 rectangular panes of glass. The left door is topped by a clock, the center one by an infill panel with air conditioner. The shop window is divided by very narrow strips into what appears to be 20 panes of glass in 4 vertical rows. There is a wood panel below the window. Immediately above the top edge of the shop window is a molded cornice which stops just short of the sidewalls of the building. A sign board the entire width of the house fills the space between the top edge of the shop cornice and the bottom edge of the second floor window sills.

The windows of the upper floors are arranged in 3 bays. Those on the second floor are 6-over-6 double hung with white painted sills and lintels. The lintels extend over the side edges of the windows and have corner blocks in low relief.

3rd floor
The windows also have stone sills, but they are nearly square, each having a pair of 2 paned casements. There are 2 recessed brick courses, one at sill level, the other just over the center of the height of these windows. Corbeled brick forms a simple cornice. There are two chimneys on the right wall of the house.
